Nadine Burke Harris, MD

Founder of the Understanding ACEs Movement!

A call to action to prevent and heal childhood adversity and trauma.

Dr. Burke Harris is the founder of the Center for Youth Wellness in San Francisco, an organization dedicated to improving the health of children exposed to ACEs. Dr. Burke Harris also served as California's first Surgeon General, focusing on addressing the root causes of health disparities and promoting early interventions for childhood trauma.

Her influential book, "The Deepest Well: Healing the Long-Term Effects of Childhood Adversity," has brought widespread attention to the impact of early adversity on long-term health and well-being.

Exclusive Discussion!

This exclusive, hybrid in-person (by invitation-only) and virtual event will be hosted by Kathy Leone at The Breakers.

Live, In-Person and Virtual Event!

Dr. Nadine Burke Harris was already known as a crusading physician delivering targeted care to vulnerable children. But it was Diego — a boy who had stopped growing after a sexual assault — who galvanized her journey to uncover the connections between toxic stress and lifelong illnesses.

Dr. Burke Harris's research shows just how deeply our bodies can be imprinted by ACEs —adverse childhood experiences like abuse, neglect, parental addiction, mental illness, and divorce.

Childhood adversity changes our biological systems, and lasts a lifetime. For anyone who has faced a difficult childhood, or who cares about the millions of children who do, the fascinating scientific insight and innovative, acclaimed health interventions in The Deepest Well represent vitally important hope for preventing lifelong illness for those we love and for generations to come.

"It could be a dad hugging and listening. The buffer is hugely important, not just to attenuate the stress hormones but also to prevent the kind of epigenetic changes that lead to a dysregulated stress response and the major health issues that come with it."
